

FREQUENT STUDENT FORUMS MAY GET COUNCIL BACKING

Miss Majors, Mr. Leigh Attend the National Students' Meeting

HELD AT LINCOLN

Frequent student forums concerning present-day affairs will be held soon at the University if the idea Betty Majors, '36, and Louis Leigh, '37, brought back from the National Federated Student Union regional meeting held in Lincoln last week, is put into effect.

"We hope to stimulate student interest in national affairs," stated Leigh, "through frequent student forums, and it is hoped that this plan may be put into effect within the next year."

President Haynes sent Miss Majors and Mr. Leigh as representatives of the University student council to Lincoln Friday.

Two prominent local men may be brought to the University to present their own viewpoints at the same meeting on some current problem, following which the meeting will be thrown open to student discussion, Leigh explained.

Representatives to the meeting passed resolutions favoring the abolishment of compulsory military drill, advocating disarmament, and international peace. Members agreed that they would willingly fight if the territorial boundaries of the United States were crossed.

Four states, Iowa, Kansas, South Dakota, and Nebraska, were represented at the regional meeting. The meeting was a three-day convention, beginning Thursday morning, April 16, and ending Saturday, April 18. The University of Nebraska student council acted as hosts for the meet.

Payoff Comes For Efforts of Gateway Staff Last Semester

Students who were members of The Gateway during the last semester received checks Tuesday according to the number of inches each had written in the paper.

The money which the students received was from the fund which is the surplus in The Gateway treasury from last semester.

Previously a committee had been chosen to select the best editorial, feature, and the two best news stories appearing in The Gateway for each semester. This semester there were no awards of this type made.

Students who received checks were: Ellen Hartman, John Pearson, Rosella Prall, Fran Nelson, James McCreary, Hyman Finklestein, George Knipprath, Milton Moore, Lloyd Lee, Helen Saltares, Marjorie Noe, Elbert Holington, Jim Moise, Irene Tinkham, Fannie Witkin, Frank Glasberger, Don Ryan, Dutch Hesler, Ruth Ward, Macy Baum, Sam Adams and Ruth Wemmer.

President Haynes and Dr. Holt attended a meeting of the N. C. Association of Colleges this week. Dr. Holt returned Thursday, and President Haynes is expected home today.

Applications For Uni. Publications

Applications for positions next year on The Gateway, the Student Directory, and the Tomahawk must be in to the board of student publications by Friday, May 15, stated Dr. W. D. MacLay Tuesday.

Positions as editor-business manager for the Student Directory and the Tomahawk, and as editor, managing editor and business manager for The Gateway will be filled now, but the lesser offices will be filled later, he stated.

Application blanks may be secured from any of the board members, namely, Dr. W. D. MacLay, Dr. Lyman Harris, Dr. A. Dayle Wallace, Faye Lane, and John Moucka.

Sigma Tau Delta Officers Elected

Ellen Hartman, '37, was elected president of Sigma Tau Delta, national honorary English fraternity, at a meeting held at the Paxton hotel last Tuesday, April 21.

Other officers elected were: James Peterson, '38, vice-president; Eola Lieben, secretary; and Irma Sheperd, treasurer.

"There is still time to enter the original manuscript that closes Friday, May 1," Miss Jeanette Winters announced. "All students are invited to compete for the ten dollar prize. The contest is intended to reveal literary talent on the University campus."

Chemistry Students Start Contest Today

A contest in the form of a spell-down on chemical questions, asked members of the Chemistry club during assembly period at Science Hall, starts this morning at their regular meeting.

John Hadfield and William Haberstroh gave the questions to members of the club.

The contest will be continued each week at the regular meetings until all but one are eliminated.

PREDICT BETTER MA-IE FESTIVAL; SELLING TICKETS

Annual Celebration To Be Held Thursday,
May 14; Peony Park

ADD SING MEET

Early plans for Omaha University's second annual Ma-IE Festival indicate a more elaborate affair than the successful fete which was held last year, according to committee members.

Ticket sales for the event begin today; tickets may be bought at the Bursar's office and from Jane Cook, Virginia Lee Long, Howard Sorensen, Leo Pearey and Macy Baum, Ma-IE committee members. Ma-IE Day will be held Thursday, May 14, at Peony Park.

An added feature to the program will be an Inter-Fraternity Sing, in which fraternity choruses will compete in the opening number on the Ma-IE program.

Rehearsals Are Opened
All campus organizations are expected to be represented in the Ma-IE vaudeville show. Opening rehearsal was held in the gym Tuesday evening. Acts presented included the Pi Omega Pi chorus, Kappa Psi Delta revue and "The Fleet's In" show directed by Katherine Davis.

Sigma Chi Omicron, Gamma Sigma Omicron, Barb, Alpha Sigma Lambda, Theta Phi Delta and other acts will be rehearsed tomorrow evening in the gym.

Expect Heavy Ticket Sale
Committee members expect attendance to exceed that at last year's show, when over 500 students were present. Tickets are 50 cents per person and include admission to the park, the Inter-Fraternity Sing, the vaudeville show, a buffet supper, admission to the dance and a vote for the Ma-IE Princess.

Carol Wigton, '38, having completed the casting of a bust of Ethel Jane Scanlon, assistant in the Foreign Language Department, is sculpturing a bust of Dr. Benjamin Boyce, head of the English department.

University Gliding Interest Spreads

With the advent of Spring, campus glider enthusiasts all over the country are dusting off their motorless planes preparatory to looking up an enterprising air current.

Kent State pilots, who banded together in 1933 and built the world's largest glider, a two-seater with a wing-spread of 47 feet, are hoping to get confirmation of an unofficial world record. On one of its 1935 flights, the ship climbed to 1700 feet in one minute and one second, carrying two men.

An ambitious endurance flight program is being planned by Washington State glider experts. They want to keep a ship in the air so long the pilot will have to be refueled—with coffee and sandwiches.

Ad Value Contest Open to Students

Less than a month now remains before the final closing date of the essay competition for college and university students on "The Economic Value of Advertising."

This competition, sponsored by Advertising Age, calls for essays of not more than 1,500 words on this subject. The deadline for entries is May 15, 1936.

First prize is $250 in cash, plus a trip to Boston, where the winner will be given his award at the annual convention of the Advertising Federation of America, June 28 to July 2. Second prize is $100 in cash, third prize is $50, and there are ten additional prizes of $10 each.

Complete details may be secured from the Contest Secretary, Advertising Age, 100 East Ohio Street, Chicago.

Illustrated Lecture On Japanese Art

Mary Pollard Hull, a member of the Joslyn Art Memorial staff, will give an illustrated lecture on Japanese art during the assembly period in Jacobs' Hall.

Mrs. Hull is the daughter of former Congressman Pollard of Nebraska.

ART DEPARTMENT WILL GIVE TEA THIS AFTERNOON

Huey Long Assassin
Feature In Display
Of Original Works

THIRD THIS YEAR

Persons attending the studio open-house tea to be given by the Art department of the University, Friday, from 2 to 6 p. m., will be able to see the original prize-winning memorial etching dedicated to the assassin of Huey Long, Dr. Carl Weiss, entitled "The Milky Way," created by R. W. Woiceske.

A six day exhibition of the works of outstanding contemporary American artists, beginning last Monday and continuing through Saturday, has displayed 61 original etchings, lithographs, dry points, aqua tints, mezzos tints, engravings, wood cuts, and wood engravings, which were loaned the department by the American Artists Group.

The studio tea Friday afternoon will show the possibility of adapting the arts of earlier periods to typical American foods and serving methods. Egyptian hangings will act as a table background, and the food will be served in modern pottery that shows the influence of Egyptian colors and forms.

Hostesses at the tea table will be Miss Grace Gunn and Mrs. A. D. Wallace, from two to three o'clock; Miss Marian Reed and Mrs. David Goldstein, from three to four o'clock; Mrs. James Earl and Mrs. Mildred Gearhart from four to five o'clock; and Mrs. James Bednar and Mrs. James Ainscow from five to six.

Besides "The Milky Way," whose purpose is "To keep green the memory of Louisiana's martyr-patriot," the exhibition displays

Prizes Awarded Contest Winners In Declamatory

Ten Omaha and Council Bluffs high school students were winners in the annual declamatory contest sponsored by the German club of the University.

Twenty-eight students competed for book prizes, which were awarded by Val J. Peter, and offered by the Federation of Omaha German Clubs. The contest was held in the auditorium.

A musical program was presented by Evelyn Faulk, Frances Johnson, Verona Jerabek and Ida Gitlin. Gustave Faulkner made the opening address.

Winners were: Thomas Jefferson—Elaine Cloar, first; Ruth White, second.

Central—Warner Fromann, first; Erna Kursawe, second.

Abraham Lincoln—Richard Walser, first; Robert Pomeroy, second. Benson—John Reinemund, first; Ralph Lundell, second.

Technical—Marian Wilke, first; Frank Mitchell, second.

Miss Alice Lillegren, supervisor of speech in the Omaha public schools will speak to two groups of students at the University on the audiometer, Friday morning at 9 and again at 10 o'clock in room 2 of Joslyn Hall.

University Co-eds Over Country Fail to Praise American College Youth: Say Too Egotistical

A few weeks ago an enterprising Gateway reporter sallied forth to find out what Omaha U. coeds thought of the males and vice-versa. Since then other universities have undertaken the same task and the following are reports received from other schools.

North Carolina University coeds screamed, "College men are the most selfish and egotistical creatures on earth! They get drunk too much, they lack respect for girls and older people, they have no sense of responsibility for their social obligations. Their table manners are 'lousy' and they try to brag about their dates to fraternity brothers. They are rude, insincere, disrespectful, inconsiderate, impolite, discourteous." (Editor's note: Phew!)

That isn't all, either. A Syracuse University coed declared, "The thing that gets in my hair most is when the boys won't stand up when a girl enters the room; and I could scream when my partner keeps bumping into other couples on a dance floor. I hate unnecessary profanity, and I don't like loudness in a boy, either. In short, there's nothing much that's good about the American male as he is found in college." (My own note: she's probably got buck teeth.)

From coeds at the University of Indiana comes the opinion that "the most common failing of college boys occurs in fraternity houses after dates. There each boy openly and rudely classifies each girl. Sometimes a girl doesn't have a chance to live down a reputation after a boy has branded her."

"There is still hope," they believe, "since a market does exist for the campus Romeo—providing he's remodeled. A sense of humor, ruggedness of feature rather than good looks, ability to know when he's had enough to drink, a little athletic ability, and above all, consideration and politeness, are components of The Ideal."

University of Kentucky co-eds would rather be amused by "the comic type." "Down with the tall, dark and handsome male," they say.

We had just about given up all hope for the boys when we found a dispatch from the University of Utah, where investigators gave a test in theoretic etiquette to entering freshmen. They found that the boys far outclassed the girls, but then we felt worse than ever because we realized that coeds were criticizing upperclassmen; and it would appear that college has a degrading affect on one—especially the male of the species.

There was one question that boys and girls did agree on in the test, however; gum-chewing and woo-pitching in public was not in good taste, and that if one insisted on it, one should first seek out a heavy clump of sage-brush.

SPRING SPORTS

Many of the smaller Universities throughout the country have shown an increasing interest in the minor spring sports. The larger Colleges have always had adequate facilities for promoting these spring sports and as a result there has been an ever increasing interest in golf and tennis and in some schools intramural kitten ball.

Last week the University of Baltimore announced a complete discontinuance of football in favor of a more completely subsidized program of intramural and minor sports. Baltimore is not the first school to do this and many observers believe that it will be by no means the last; some even believe the action to be indicative perhaps of ultimate abandonment of the sport by all colleges.

The Gateway does not advocate any such abandonment or curtailment of major sports, but we do think that the athletic department of the University should make a greater effort to provide a program of minor sports for students at the University.

It is true that minor sports are of a largely subsidized nature, but we also feel it be true that a greater number of students would benefit by it than the comparatively few who are able to take part in football, basketball and track.

In the future, when Omaha University has the buildings and equipment that it needs, we hope that provision is made for a recreational center for faculty and students, but until then, we must not lose sight of the fact that very little is being done for those interested in minor sports.

COUNCIL SHOWS LIFE

At last the student council has an opportunity to interest itself in other than personal and local affairs.

In order that our council could obtain ideas from other similar bodies in the middle-west, two representatives were sent to the Students' Union meeting held at Lincoln last week.

The inadequate council treasury has had much to do with the inertia displayed by the council in previous years. Any money which has been received from activities sponsored by them has been returned to the school in one form or another.

It was therefore only right that the University should pay the expenses of the two delegates, but why not give the council a regular appropriation for such activities, since they represent more fully the entire student body than either the debate squad or the athletic department?

The first move, as soon as some appropriation is made, should be to join the National Federated Students' Union. Its importance would be inestimable for bringing ideas and popular movements from other colleges and universities to this University.

Thru The Keyhole

With the Alpha Sig picnic coming off tomorrow evening, we are wondering if Elaine Coulter will have a date with Dex Nygaard, or whether she will be chiseling again with Ed Kersenbrock.... By the way, Ed, Maxine Mills would like to talk to you in the presence of "Tippy" Tyler....There seems to be some misunderstanding.

A certain little gal about school has been blowing her top about having a date for Ma-le Day with a prominent athlete....I guess she can't take jokes any more.

You publicity seekers should join the Veterans of Future Wars....At their last rally everyone present had their pictures in the paper, with the exception of a few hooters....A special plea is being sent out for more mothers, too....Only one appeared, and she was afraid mama would spank if she was photographed.

When Jane Cook and her boy-friend have a fight, they really have a fight....The last one was ended with Jane winning a technical knockout....Last minute scoop! Ellen Hartman was seen at a dance last Wednesday evening with none other than "Man-Mountain" Johnk.

Don't tell anyone, but Bob Lehmer is going to date one of Elinor Johnson's strongest rivals for the Theta picnic tomorrow evening....Have you heard the new southern accent that Bob acquired a few weeks ago in South Omaha?...It's just charming, my goodness.

"Chuck" Jerome collected a total of three cents for his inches in The Gateway last semester.... He's going to save it to write Harriet Salmon a letter from Kansas City this summer.... Evelyn Clough was sorta burned up at a little party the other night because "her" Chuck spent most of the evening holding Amy Rohacek close in his arms....Just for old times sake, you know....(P. S.—They were dancing)...."Tippy" Tyler probably had the best time of anyone at the "O" Club dance last Friday....C. Rogers and Jack Maloney weren't far behind him, though.

Did you know that "goon," "dilly" and "drip" all mean the same thing? In general they refer to a male who just doesn't rate, who is a punk, a washout, if you get our meaning. The corresponding term for a female of the same type is "flatto," although it is considered proper to use "floozie."

And should a male find himself tied to such a woman, he is in a "tizzy."

Courtship has been redefined as meaning the act of "pitching woo" or "making schmoo," and considering the slightly syrupy nature of much contemporary adolescent love, the expressions seem appropriate.

A "stout fellah" may suddenly find himself become very "antsy" just before finals, which means he has found necessary to study hard. In such a case, the reason for his lack of knowledge probably is that he has been spending too much time "huddling with his honey bubble."

Troy Woerner is still trying to get that certain girl to go for a ride with him in his new car.... Our prediction is that it will be an old car before she goes.

Ruth Wemmer, the ex-South High Tooter editor, really got her money's worth at the barber shop the other day....With a little more taken off, we'd have a bald-headed woman on The Gateway.

Ethel Sachse went on a party along the Elkhorn river last Saturday, and returned with scratches all over her face....In closing, ladies and gentlemen, let us show you an example of what love can do....Marge Noe has definitely decided to take up the game of tennis....That's all for this time, folks....More in the kitchen.

ON THE MAGAZINE RACK

By LLOYD L. LEE

College Teaching—March Harper's
(Henry Seidel Canby)

"College Teaching" is the second of two articles by Dr. Canby, who is the editor of the "Saturday Review of Literature," to appear in Harper's. All students who plan to teach should read this informal essay. The faculty will find it very amusing, for they will surely agree with some of the points which this distinguished educator narrates. Dr. Canby says that there were five schools of the theory of teaching in his day: the hard-boiled, the indifferent, the idealistic, the factual, and the enthusiastic. His elaboration upon these theories is quite humorous, yet ironical. He, then, explains the experiences of a young college teacher and his relationships with the different elements of his classroom.

Dr. Canby, finally, sees college teaching as a struggle between two civilizations, between two types of mind, between two ideas of living—"Plato versus John Rockefeller, Shakespeare versus Benjamin Franklin, Milton versus the stock exchange and the Y. M. C. A."

Five Years Ago

1. Mrs. Gearhart: There is certainly something wrong with our present system of living. We even bring up our children on the rush system. We rush them out of bed; we rush them to school; we rush them to bed again. What will we have when we are through?

Russ Baker: Little Russians.

2. Dean A. J. Dunlap is continuing his good work of keeping everyone as far up in the clouds as possible.

Dean Dunlap, while lunching with A. A. Reed, Extension Director of the North Central Association, suggested that Mr. Reed fly over the city with him. Mr. Reed had never been in a plane, but took the ride that afternoon, and is said to have enjoyed it greatly.

3. "There is no connection between knowledge obtained and the grades received," stated John Barber, Wednesday, April 8, during the Student Forum. The subject under discussion was the grading process in the present educational system. Mr. Barber bitterly opposed this system, and suggested the method, a recent European development, of no grades at all.

4. Prof. Hugh Orr, chairman of the assembly programs, is planning a series of High School Days for the different high schools of the city.

This will help the high school students who are planning to attend college to become acquainted with the Municipal University, while classes are still being held in the Spring.

Greek News

What with Ma-le Day in the offing, every Greek on the campus is quite enthused. Each sorority and fraternity, as well as the barbs, will present an act at the annual fete.

Members of Alpha Sig are planning on practicing some of their hill-billy songs, which they will sing for the Ma-le Day, at the steak-fry on the banks of the Elkhorn, Saturday evening.

The Phi Delt's planned a double piano duet before they discovered that it would not be possible to secure two pianos and so are wracking their brains for another idea.

Gamma Sig's have not decided whether they will use a certain skit or a certain skit.

Amongst the Kappa's may be found singers and dancers. They really intend to strike up the band at this long-looked-forward-to event.

The Pi O's also have a chorus which will entertain, but they refused to say more.

Alpha Gamma Chi members wouldn't disclose any of their secret plans.

The Theta's have decided upon a skit, but not the one they intended to use in the beginning because the committee disapproves.

More on Ma-le Day later.

Tryouts were held last Tuesday, in case you didn't know.

Intoxicated driving, uncontrolled thumbing, and indiscriminate spooning are the major menaces to safety on highways, is what "The Criterion" believes.

One could call them the three H's—hic, hike, and hug.

It's In The Cards

By LEO PEAREY

This boy Kersenbrock really plays them all! Now that Nygaard can climb the gym steps again, he has quit talking to Coulter and is asking another girl, who came from St. Francis High in Council Bluffs, to teach him to dance.

Over spring vacation: Melvin Boldenow motored to Bloomfield, Nebraska, in a stock truck. The driver and charming Helen accompanied him. Harold Johnk made a visit to his parents' farm near Walnut, Iowa; ploughing, "sewing," and answering neighbors' telephone calls. He even kicked over a bucket with six dozen eggs in it.

Betty Lou Stringer enjoyed a dance at Peony without having to worry about Kelly Bolte being around. Wonder what Gardner's girl in Lincoln had to say about him dating Betty Arnold? She was 'kinda' sore when he dated another girl once.

One of Those Stories

You've probably seen Ellen Hartman limping around school this week. Well, fellow students, classmates, suckers, and mortal enemies, she says, "a fat lady stepped on my foot." In the first place did you see any large, large women at the "O" club dance? Probably Bill Middlekauf feels much better having it blamed on someone else.

Katie Davis, that pint sized gal of fast moving lightning, was really disappointed when a certain automobile license wasn't around the other evening, so she went back to the gym and began talking to Tiny again. But just the same she made Johnny Kozak walk up and down the street reading the different car plates. I guess he thought it was some kind of a game, poor guy.

Radiators Will Leak

The boys from Bachelors' Paradise felt lonely last Sunday evening, so they poured about fifty gallons of aqua into Susabella and started out on a picnic. Susabella, being a "T" with a very leaky radiator, has to be filled every gas station or two. After about forty fills from Paradise, Frank Crawford, the owner, picked up his girl. She was a little angry, Frank arriving only an hour late.

With a stop, stop here, and a stop, stop there, they finally made it out to Benson. Frank then had to waste another ten minutes and fill her up. You know it's a funny thing about that hole in the radiator, you have to use two buckets, one to pour the water in with and one to catch the water that leaks out. If you work fast enough, you can almost get it full enough to drip. The next stop was Brown's girl's house. And what do you think happened there? It's a long story from there to the picnic, so wait 'til next week.

"I marvel at the gentlemanly ways that have been discovered of being dishonest," says Robert Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago. He finds that honesty is no longer considered smart.

Dr. Chester S. Maxey, Whitman College political science professor, recently asked his class why four particular books were good for reference on their respective subjects. The entire class, with the exception of one girl, gave good answers. The girl received the best mark. There were no such books.

We guess the people in the eastern floods must be walling: "Water we going to do?"

Girls Sports

W. A. A. National Convention is being held at the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis this year, from April 23-26. The official delegates from Omaha University are Lillian Damask, '37, and Phyllis Knudsen, '38.

Unofficial delegates are Bernice Perimeter, '36; Ellen Forehead, '37; Marianne Harrington, '37; Elinor Johnson, '37; Betty Lou Stringer, '38; Betty Arnold, '39, and Dolly Obradovitch, '37. Miss Ruth Diamond will accompany the group.

The program includes a recital by the University Orchestral class, an informal tea, reception, and concludes with a large banquet on Friday night. At the business meetings the trend of mixed recreations will be discussed, along with social and sport programs.

The girls left Omaha Wednesday and will return home Sunday.

Omaha University Orchestral class will give its spring recital May 5 and 6. The program will have ten new numbers.

W. A. A. Play Day will be Saturday, May 16. Phyllis Knudsen is the general chairman. Her committee consists of Ellen Forehead, refreshments; Betty Young, program; Elinor Johnson, hostess chairman; Claire Williamson, decorations; Laura Buckland, registration; Helen Saltares, sports.

Here 'N There

Boston University's 5,000 women students have ten commandments, distributed by Dean Lucky Jenkins Franklin, to follow.

Here they are:

1. "Thou shalt never allow a stranger to take you to your destination."
2. "Thou shalt never drink in public."
3. "Thou shalt not sit out dances in cars."
4. "Thou shalt not be seen with young men who are not careful to obey conventions in society."
5. "Thou shalt not use a pet phrase in conversation."
6. "Thou shalt use discretion in using slang."
7. "Thou shalt not pat or nudge a person when speaking to one. Keep your hands to yourself."
8. "Thou shalt never go to a man's apartment alone."
9. "Thou shalt not indulge in careless affections."
10. "Thou shalt not powder your nose on the street."

Well, well! We learn that at the University of Manitoba a newspaper woman is not a woman. The explanation: Reporters, male or female, are allowed to enter fraternities where women may not enter.

N. A. A. F. Convention met at St. Louis April 16-19. Omaha University girls demonstrated before the physical education teachers three numbers—Fundamentals and Techniques, Green Tables, and Rhapsody in Blue. The Universities of Stevens, Monticello and Illinois also demonstrated before this group.

The demonstrations were discussed by John Martin, a dance critic of the New York Times. After the convention concluded, sight-seeing trips were taken. The girls returned home Sunday.

The girls who made the trip were Anne Raymond, Frances Dillger, Janet Graetz, Eloise Johnson, Maxine Marrs, Elaine Coulter, Mrs. Benson, and Helen Saltares. Miss Betty Fellman was the pianist. Miss Ruth Diamond accompanied the group.

W. A. A. candidates for the year 1936-37 officers are: President, Phyllis Knudsen and Lillian Damask; vice-president, Helen Saltares and Ellen Forehead; secretary, Eloise Johnson and Marianne Harrington; treasurer, Dolly Obradovitch and Clara Williamson. These candidates will be voted on at the first meeting in May.

All girls interested in tennis, please sign up in Miss Diamond's office by Monday, April 27.

A LIGHT SMOKE OF RICH, RIPE-BODIED TOBACCO

Luckies are less acid. One of the chief contributions of the Research Department in the development of A LIGHT SMOKE is the private Lucky Strike process, "IT'S TOASTED." This preheating process at higher temperatures consists of four main stages, which involve carefully controlled temperature gradations. Quantities of undesirable constituents are removed. In effect, then, this method of preheating at higher temperatures constitutes a completion or fulfillment of the curing and aging processes.

Recent chemical tests show that other popular brands have an excess of acidity over Lucky Strike of from 53% to 100%.

Penny Interviewed By Business Class

Dr. J. H. Rhoads and several members of his Merchandising class interviewed J. C. Penney last Friday, April 17, president of the Penney stores.

Among the interesting facts Mr. Penney divulged to the group was that he began his business career at a salary of $2.29 a month, and also that he got married at a time when he was making only $65 a month.

We wish to thank the Faculty and Students for their kindness and sympathy shown during our recent bereavement.

MRS. McROBERTS,
HARRIS KUNTZELMAN.

Tennis and Golf Meets Held Soon

Tournaments in both golf and tennis will be held some time next week to determine the best prospects to represent the Cardinal teams.

Men interested in either of these sports should sign up immediately for the tournaments. Two sheets for this purpose have been placed on the bulletin board in Joslyn Hall.

Students must sign up today if they expect to compete.

Dr. James Naismith, 74-year-old basketball inventor, played the game only twice in his life.

This is the third art exhibit this year, and is under the direction of Dr. Berthe C. Koch, head of the department of painting, sculpturing and architecture. Refreshment committee: Evelyn Betterton, chairman; Rosemarie

Sorensen, Tyler In Drake Relays

Coach Sed Hartman announced Tuesday that "Tippy" Tyler and Howard Sorensen would represent the Cardinal track team in the Drake Relays, which are to be held today and tomorrow in Des Moines.

Sorensen will enter the shot-put, and Tyler will run in the high hurdles.

The Omaha University lads left this morning for Des Moines, and will probably return tomorrow evening.

Informal Football Practice Extended

A few remaining prospects, who are yet learning valuable fundamentals in the finer points of football, were greeted with good news last Monday. Spring practice was supposed to end on Friday, May 1st, but Johnny Baker announced an additional two weeks will be added to the original schedule.

Those still engaged in practice are: Frank Crawford, Russ Riggen, George Threadgill, Jack Kaava, and Gall Lieber, guards; Paul Blunt, and Frank La Mantia, tackles; Sam Rleman, and Bill Middlekauf, ends; Steve Harper, center; and Bill Kulper, fullback.
